THE GUBERNATORIAL CONVENTION

The San Francisco Post says the gubernatorial convention called by Governor Sayers of Texas will probably discuss the question whether trusts in general are an evil, and if decided that they are beneficial and useful, nothing will be done in the various States to effect their suppression. If such is the object of the convention, it would be well, while it is about it, to take up the question whether cholera, smallpox and yellow fever are desirable or otherwise, and if found "beneficial and useful," to suggest means for their encouragement and growth, especially in the great commercial centers of the country.

But there will be no member of that convention with the hardihood to question the infamy of the trust system, for that is a universal admission. The convention was called by Governor Sayers, not to discuss the merits or demerits of trusts, but to devise some concerted action for the accomplishment of their suppression. While some of the gubernatorial representatives in that convention doubtless will be under the influence and control of the trusts, their policy will be that of obstruction, rather than defense. In other words, they will, while denouncing the system, advocate impracticable and impossible means, pretending for its abolishment. This will doubtless take the form of advocacy of State instead of federal legislation. They know full well that the evil can never be reached by "concerted action of State legislatures." It is too cumbersome a method and utterly impracticable. It is ridiculous to presume that all of the forty-seven States of the Union would enact such uniform laws as would be necessary to accomplish the general purpose, and the omission of a single one would neutralize the effect of the action of the other forty-six. It is only by a sweeping national law from which any practical good can result, and that is what the trust vandals will use every means to avert. If it becomes a matter of national politics they know that their doom is sealed, but if they can keep the State legislatures fiddling away at it, their immunity will be assured until the end of time. But it will be made a national instead of a local matter, and the Democratic National Convention will make it so, beyond a shadow of doubt.

ABUSE OF MILITARY POWER.

No law abiding or right thinking person can have any sympathy with the mob which wantonly destroyed property and committed other high-handed outrages in Idaho. But the acts of General Merriam and the autocratic and despotic course he has pursued, are, if anything, still less defensible, and as a precedent far more dangerous. His establishment of a censorship over the press and denial of service of writs of habeas corpus give an idea of what military rule would be with trained soldiers quartered throughout the country and obeying orders from a military despot. But the last and crowning abuse of military power was his denial of the right of Pat Reddy, who has been employed as counsel by the prisoners, access to his clients or an opportunity to consult with them preparatory to outlining his defense at the trial. Such an act, we believe, is unprecedented in the history of local revolts against the authorities of a State, and is an outrage against the system of American jurisprudence. It has the double effect of creating needless distrust of the power of administering justice under our State or federal laws without the interposition of despotic means, and inspiring numerical sympathy for the offenders and their lawless acts.

ROBBED WITHOUT KNOWING IT.

Shakespeare says a person who is robbed, not knowing he is robbed, is not robbed at all, or words to that effect. That may be all very true, but the plundered individual is robbed just the same. The idea of robbing people without their knowing it, did not originate in the United States. It was probably the words of the immortal bard that inspired the speech of the Earl of Chatham more than a hundred years ago, and before American plutocracy was born, in which he said:

"To levy a direct tax of seven per cent is a dangerous experiment in a free country and may incite a revolt, but there is a method by which you can tax the last rag from the back and the last bite from the mouth of the common people without causing a murmur against high taxes, and that is to tax a great many articles of use and necessity so indirectly that the people will pay the tax and not know it. Their grumbling then will be hard times, but they will not know that the hard times are caused by taxation."

The noble Earl evidently referred exclusively to the high tariff system, as trusts in his day were unknown in Great Britain or the world. Since his time, however, American Statesmen have devised a method by which the common people are given the "double cross" by a combination of tariff and trusts. They are forced to purchase the necessities of life from combines which pay no tribute to the government, but are protected by a prohibitory tariff by which they are enabled to charge their own prices, without a dollar of the excess being paid into the people's treasury. So the people are robbed from two sources—by the fraud practiced upon their revenue, and the extortion of the harpies who pocket the proceeds that should help defray the expense of running the government. Dingley could have taught the Earl of Chatham his alphabet in the art of robbing the people. There is this difference, however, the American people are beginning to understand that they are being robbed and are getting the worst of it from both the tariff and trusts, and they are going to stop the double plundering system at the next election, if there is any reliability in the signs of the times.

Near the End.

There was a report in Reno Sunday morning that Gen. R. M. Clarke had died Saturday night. How the rumor was started no one seems to know. He was taken worse and was unconscious and probably that report was exaggerated to the report in circulation. At last accounts he was still unconscious and his death was regarded as a question of only a few days or perhaps a few hours.

Excursion to Overton.

Arrangements have been made for an excursion and picnic to Overton via Truckee, on Saturday, June 17th. Fare for the round trip has been fixed at the low rate of $1.50. Train will leave at 8 o'clock sharp and cars go through to Overton without change at Truckee. A good time is anticipated.

Grand Jury.

The case of S. Meyers for assault with a deadly weapon on Pete Dalton was considered by the Grand Jury and also an Indian cutting case. No report was made, and the jury will meet again at 10 o'clock to-day.

The Hobart mills at Overton now have booked orders for over 10,000,000 feet of lumber. They intend to run their saw-mill to its full capacity this season, sawing 150,000 feet a day. The season's output will be about 30,000,000 feet.

SONG OF THE TREE TOP.

My love is the wind, and his heart is mine.
Here under the midnight sky
We sleep, and we dream in the starlit gleam
And wake to the son bird's cry.
When the day comes back and the sails unfurl
As blue billows fluff into foam,
We laugh in delight at the hurricane's flight
And kiss when the ships come home.
—Robert Randall in Connecticut Magazine.

UPSET BY AN UMBRELLA.

It Came Very Handy, but Made Three Men Miserable.

"Talking about stealing umbrellas," said a New Orleans business man. "I had a whimsical experience last week. One afternoon, when it was raining, I happened to see a very good umbrella in the hall, and—well, I annexed it, or rather I established a protectorate, intending to return it before night to the gentleman in the adjoining office, who, I supposed of course, was the owner. "But somehow or other I didn't, and for several days I dodged him in and out of the building, feeling particularly uncomfortable and guilty. Finally he dropped in and, seeing the umbrella in the front office, walked off with it. I witnessed the incident unobserved from the rear room and naturally said nothing. Next day we encountered in the elevator, and he handed me the umbrella.

"Here's your parachute," he said. "I'll have to own up that I appropriated it yesterday, but it was raining, and the temptation was too strong for my morals."

"I took it rather gingerly and refrained from offering any explanation. That afternoon I set it just outside my door and had the satisfaction of seeing it disappear under the arm of an architect who is a prominent member of my church and generally regarded as a very moral man. Since then he has had pressing business whenever I have into sight, and I infer that he is suffering a duplicate of the pangs recently experienced by myself and my neighbor. The fellow who originally left it hasn't turned up, so I suppose that he, too, is a member of the robber band."

Women and Their Cats.

Louis Wain, the famous cat painter, professes to believe that a cat owned by a woman is the mirror of its mistress' temperament. He says that if a cat that has been constantly with its mistress is suddenly removed from her society the creature will show the characteristics madame has displayed. If she has been snappish, pussy will scratch; if she has been sulky, pussy will sulk too. If this were really true, it would pay a prospective husband to steal the cat of his ladylove before taking the fatal matrimonial step. As the cat is about the most independent creature alive, one can't help being skeptical of Mr. Wain's theory.

A French writer has ascertained that Napoleon's favorite dish was bean salad, and that he held that 60 cents a day ought to be enough for any one's meals. Louis XV, on the contrary, had a favorite dish, made of the eggs of various birds, which cost $100.

Metaphysical Thought.

When a man really gives his thoughts up chiefly to estates and drinkables, he generally ceases to think of anything else after awhile. It is related in an old book on French cookery that Fontenelle, a French author of the early part of the eighteenth century belonging to the school of the precieuses, or literary exquisites, was found one beautiful morning lying at ease on the slope of a hill.

In the valley was a large flock of sheep. They skipped about daintily, waiting for their guardian to take them home. A friend of Fontenelle surprised him gazing meditatively upon these sheep.

"Aha!" said the friend. "The amiable philosopher ponders without doubt upon the vicissitudes of life."
"Y-yes," said Fontenelle. "I had been carefully looking over this flock, and I said to myself, 'It is possible that among these 200 sheep there is not one tender leg of mutton!'"

Why Wood Crackles.

Wood crackles when it is ignited because the air expanded by heat forces its way through the pores of the wood with a crackling noise. Green wood makes less snapping than dry because the pores contain less air, being filled with sap and moisture, which extinguish the flame, whereas the pores of dry wood are filled with air, which supports combustion.

Very Different.

"Snags and I have quarreled," said Squidly to McSwilligen.

"Then when you separated of course you did not exchange assurances of distinguished consideration?"

"On the contrary, we exchanged assurances of extinguished consideration."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Badly Confused.

Lord Bramwell, says the biographer of that jurist, used to tell a story illustrating the complete paralysis which may affect the human mind at trying moments.

One day when he was on board a Rhine steamer he noticed a lady, evidently in great distress, trying by signs to explain to the officials some matter of importance. Fancying that she was a countrywoman of his own, he asked: "Do you speak English?"

The poor lady had really lost her head, and she could only stammer out, "Un peu"—that is, a little.

Then Lord Bramwell continued the conversation in French, but it became evident that the lady understood scarcely a word. German and Italian gave equally bad results. Finally she muttered audibly to herself:

"How I wish I were safe at home!" "But surely you do speak English!" exclaimed the baron.

"I can't speak anything else," she sobbed. "That's what makes me so helpless among these foreigners."

Intemperance in Drugs.

There is a source of nervous ailments entirely special to this age and the unexpected outcome of our present day chemistry and advertising. Intemperance in drugs is becoming more common, and it may possibly outstrip the abuse of alcohol in its evil results. The manufacture of new chemical products is supplying the public with endless carbon derivatives of high molecular power and of imperfectly known physiological action. Some are most dangerous, and their continued indulgence leads to confirmed neurosis or hopeless neurasthenia, and it thus comes to pass that as the therapeutic activity of the profession tends to abolish disease that of the public is manufacturing it.—Medical Journal.

Plaster of Paris.

The setting of plaster of paris may be retarded by the addition of 2 to 4 per cent of powdered althaea root. This addition not only retards the hardening of the plaster, but also enables it to be cut, filed, sawed and turned. An addition of 8 per cent retards the complete setting of the plaster for about an hour, so that the mass may be used for any purpose where it is to remain plastic during at least a portion of that time.

I want to let the people who suffer from rheumatism and sciatica know that Chamberlain's Pain Balm relieved me after a number of other medicines and a doctor had failed. It is the best liniment I have ever known of.—J. A. DODSON, Alpharetta, Ga. Thousands have been cured of rheumatism by this remedy. One application relieves the pain. For sale by Wm. Pinniger.

In the way of useful advertising novelties, F. O. Splindier has hit upon a good plan. He has received a shipment of lithographed fans, which are truly gems of the lithographer's art. The constant crowds at his store during the present hot spell bears proof to the fact that Fred knows how to prepare his ice cream and soda water in a way that wins favor with our Reno people.

It has been demonstrated repeatedly in every State in the Union and in many foreign countries that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a certain preventive and cure for croup. It has become the universal remedy for that disease. M. V. Fisher of Liberty, W. Va., only repeats what has been said around the globe when he writes: "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in my family for several years and always with perfect success. We believe that it is not only the best cough remedy, but that is a sure cure for croup. It has saved the lives of our children a number of times." This remedy is for sale by Wm. Pinniger.

Business Interests in Reno.

The saw-mill men and lumber business interests in and about Sierra Valley are deserving of more than a passing notice from Reno. The JOURNAL is informed that the chief difficulty in the way of having the lumber business of the mills near Sierra Valley center at Reno is a refusal by the N.-O.-O. railway to receive the cars of the Sierra Valley railway; that all freights from the latter road have to be handled and reshipped at Plumas Junction, which is the point of connection of the roads. Reshipment of freights, and particularly heavy freight, such as lumber, is attended with such expense and delay, that it prohibits the lumber men from shipping lumber to Reno. There may be some cause unknown for this condition of things, but on the face of the matter as a business proposition it is certainly not as it should be. The N.-O.-O. railway should have no interest in depriving Reno, which is its southerly terminus, of any business that the road could bring to the town in the form of freight over their road. In the advance of any knowledge or explanation of the cause of the existing conditions, the people and business men of Reno could not be censured for believing that the N.-O.-O. people are not friendly to the town.

Baseball Tournament.

The Reno baseball team is being re-organized for the purpose of participating in a series of games to be played at Golconda on the second and third of July. They will play the teams from Elko, Tuscarora and Battle Mountain at Golconda, and then return to Winnemucca on the fourth, where they will play the Winnemucca team.

We hope that Reno may be able to organize as good a team this time as she has in the past. If she is successful in doing so the eastern teams will be obliged to play ball if they keep the trophy from Reno.

The purse which will be tendered to the winning team by Winnemucca is $50. The tournament trophy has not been decided upon, but will probably be a silver cup valued at $80. The Reno team will play an intermediate game with Virginia City on the 24th. Just this game will be played upon the University campus.

Discovered by Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose, that she slept all night; and two bottles, has absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes H. C. Hamrick & Co. of Shelby N. C. Trial bottles free at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store. Regular size 50 cents and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

Coal Oil in Demand.

The new dynamo at the electric light works did not materialize the illuminating incandescent rays to any considerable extent last night. After a rather weak effort for about half an hour the glow was completely doused and Egyptian darkness reigned in the vicinity of the globes. The JOURNAL office was compelled to turn to its old stand-by, the Standard Oil Company, for light with which to prepare its ration of mental pabulum for the consumption of its reader patrons this morning. "All's well that ends well," but this office is getting a little impatient for the beginning of the end.

Having a Great Run on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Manager Martin, of the Pierson drug store, informs us that he is having a great run on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He sells five bottles of that medicine to one of any other kind, and it gives great satisfaction. In these days of la grippe there is nothing like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to stop the cough, heal up the sore throat and lungs and give relief in a very short time. The sales are growing, and all who try it are pleased with its prompt action.—South Chicago Daily Calumet. For sale by Wm. Pinniger.

The Gubernatorial Contest.

The gubernatorial contest is still going on in Carson, but nobody yet knows who is, or rather who will be Governor after the Supreme Court has sized up the case. There is probably less interest felt in Reno over the matter than in the Jeffries-Fitzsimmons affair, and it is quite certain a whole lot less money will change hands on the result.

The Borax Works.

Robert Fulton, Jr., has just returned from the Patterson borax works near D. p. Hole. He says the four new concentrators are giving very satisfactory results. These concentrators were built to order in San Francisco and are particularly adapted to the separation of borax from dirt and other undesirable salts as found in the conditions existing at the works. In addition to these, the old concentrators are being used making the total output a ton per day. Fifteen men are employed and the works present a very business like appearance. All the borax is being shipped east.

NEVADA HARDWARE AND SUPPLY CO

How long are you going to let that old cookstove that burns more fuel than a furnace and heats the outdoors more than I does the oven?

A very little money will buy one of our cookstoves—you'll save the price a fuel in one season. It will keep the heat where it ought to be, and cook your food as it ought to be cooked. Come in and examine them.

Not So Bad.

Dotty Thimble rushed up the stairs to Lucy Cleary's room and burst through the door.

"It isn't such a fool, after all!" she exclaimed.

"Who isn't?" asked Lucy wonderingly.

"That Gerald Thompson."

Lucy's lip curled. "What makes you think so?" she asked.

"Cause he kept us all guessing for three hours at Maria Everson's library party last night."

"Did he? How?"

"He came in with a bicycle lock tied on his shoe."

"What did that mean?"

"That's what none of us could make out until it was time to go, and then he told us and it was so simple he made us all feel like fools."

"What book was it that he represented?"

"Locke 'On the Human Understanding.' He's coming over to call tomorrow night."—Detroit Free Press.

A Bellicose Youth.

The boy is still father to the man. A certain prominent political hustler, who, like the British tar in "Pinafore," is ever ready with his fists, showed his pugilistic taste at an early age.

The first day he went to school the family were, of course, anxious to know his impression of the new occupation.

"Well, Sammy," said his father, "what did you learn on your first day at school?"

Straightening up and assuming a bellicose attitude, Sam replied, "Father, I learned I can lick every boy in my class."

A few days later his love of pugilism and frequent battles led to his expulsion. He came home that day and surprised his good mother with the remark, "Well, mother, thank the Lord, I have been turned out!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Archery in a City's Streets.

The military students of Tung-Chou are a conspicuous nuisance. They have a way of using one of the main streets in the city as a convenient spot for practicing archery, and we have been repeatedly obliged to edge up to the extreme edge of the footpath to avoid possible eccentric flights of arrows.

Characteristically it never occurs to them to suspend operations for others' safety or convenience, and minor accidents must not be uncommon.

A lad was brought to the hospital the other day who had been struck by an arrow just below the eye as he was edging along the highway. He was not badly hurt and probably regarded his injury as incidental to the ordinary risks of travel on city streets.—North China Herald.

Good Use For Them.

She (singing softly)—"Would that I had the wings of a bird."

He—What earthly use would they be to you, my dear?

She—I was just planning the trimming for my spring hat.
